Rules recap

Welcome to "Trust no one" a warriors murder mystery game.

In this game there will be one randomly picked cat from the clan. They will murder one cat per chapter. Healers may be able to heal them but that is down to luck. Innocent cats will vote on who is guilty.

You can have up to 3 cats each but only one out of the 3 could have a role that is not an innocent (this does not include medical cats)

Good luck.

Roles recap

Leader (me)
The leader won't be able to vote. They will announce what has happened and what will happen.

Murder
An unknown cat from the clan that is randomly picked. It could be the deputy, a warrior, a queen, an elder or an apprentice. I will PM them to notify them of their role. They will PM me a victim (it can't be the leader or medical cats) The murder can still vote.

Medical cats
The medical cat will PM a cat they are going to heal. If the healed cat is the same as the victim they are saved. If there is more than one they must agree on one cat.

Accuser
The accuser will PM the cat they think murdered the victim.

Innocent
Innocent will vote on wether they think the accused cat is innocent or guilty. If the cat is voted innocent you will not know if they are innocent or guilty but if the cat is voted guilty and they will be exiled and it will be revealed if they are innocent or guilty.

Filler characters
Filler characters are cats who are played by me. They are usually kits, warriors or elders. The murderer can kill them (unless they are a medical cat), the medical cats can heal them and if they are the murderer or accuser the cats they pick will be randomly picked.

Roles each cat of that rank have the possibility to be :

Leader: no role
Deputy: accuser or murderer
Medical cat: healer
Warrior: accuser or murder

Apprentice: accuser or murderer
Queen: accuser or murderer
Kit: accuser
Elder: accuser or murderer
Filler character: accuser or murderer

Aim of the game

We will keep playing until one of these results happen:
•the accuser picks the right cat and the cat is voted guilty (the innocents/accuser wins)
•the murderer successfully kills the accuser (the murderer wins)

I will give a hint every time the medical cats and the murderer pick the same cat.

Points so far

Murderer wins: 0

Accuser wins: 3

Murder 1

Ravenfur was walking down by the river, the sun had set a while ago. He had been haunted by a dream that had reoccurred for the past few sun downs. He hadn't told anyone and just brushed it off but this night was the 5th time he had seen it.

As he walked along the river something caught his eye. He went to investigate, the object that he had seen was a fox trap . A shadowy figure jumped out of nowhere and tackled Ravenfur, pulling the rope part of the trap over his head.

It was sunrise the next day and Frostflower was looking for herbs when she came across Ravenfur, his body was limp. As she approached he jolted up, his eyes followed white. "A shine of light will take over the clan if a mysterious cat doesn't come to your aid and uncover the true darkness to the light" he said before dropping down limp.

———

Dancingstar sat on high rock "there is a murderer in the clan, Ravenfur was killed by a fox trap last moon high" she announced. Shocked gasps echoed around the clan. Talonpaw looked confused "how do you know it was a murder? He could have gotten himself stuck in the darkness." He asked. Dancingstar shook her head "he was an experienced warrior and there is a scent covered by mint on him" she announced.

Dancingstar sighed. "Cats of Dawn Clan. We must vote if Mousestorm is innocent or guilty" she said.

Talonpaw looked up at Mousestorm "I'm sorry but guilty. I can't take the risk of anymore of my family dying" he looked back at his father's dead body and went back to grieving with his brother, Sunrisepaw.

Shadowfall was starting to get nervous and begged Dancingstar and Whispercall to send out a patrol and look for him. By morning the patrol had found his body.

Wanderkit from this day until you have earned your warriors name you will be known as Wanderpaw, Emberpelt you will mentor Wanderpaw and teach her all she needs to know about the warrior code" Emberpelt and Wanderpaw tounched noses. Bayecho padded into the nursery with a mouse in his jaws for his mate. He padded up to Breezeshine and placed the mouse down next to her "I thought you might want something to eat" he said before looking at the kits "they're beautiful" he told her with a happy purr. Breezeshine thanked him and ate the mouse. After a few bites she started to choke. Bayecho ran and got Frostflower but they were too late. Frostflower examined the mouse and as she suspected there was a half eaten death berry in it.

Dancingstar sat on highrock "there has been another murder. Breezeshine has been killed by death berries. Luckily we still have Whispercall to look after the kits." She said, nodding to her deputy who was sitting in the entrance of the nursery.

Sparrowpaw and Icepaw were showing Skypaw and Wanderpaw around the abandoned twoleg place nearby. The apprentices were messing around when they heard a dog barking. "Run!" Icepaw yelled. They split up and ran in different directions. Skypaw found herself in a garden and looked around. She saw a large pit filled with water at the bottom, something a twoleg would call a 'well'. She looked down it. A shadowy figure crept out of the shadows and knocked her in. Skypaw yowled as she fell down. She desperately tried to stay afloat in the water. The shadowy figure laughed and padded off.

Sparrowpaw heard Skypaw's yowl and as soon as the coast was clear he ran towards the noise. As he got there he saw Skypaw sink beneath the water.

Dancingstar sat on highrock with a smile "there was another murder attempt but Icepaw saved Moonkit and to honour this I will give Icepaw, Sparrowpaw, Darkpaw and Lilypaw their warriors names" The named apprentices looked at each other excitedly. "Icepaw, for your bravery when rescuing Moonkit I give you your warriors name, Iceshine." She said touching her nose. She then turned to Lilypaw "Lilypaw, although you couldn't save Pepperkit you did what any smart warrior would have done. So I give you your warriors name, Lilyheart" she touched her nose before turning to Darkpaw "Darkpaw your mentor has taught you lots and believes you have what it takes to be a skilled and loyal warrior. Murder 11 and 12

Dancingstar looked over her clan mates. It had been a few days since the last murder and Dancingstar was starting to asume that the murderer was in fact Darkbracken, but somewhere in the clan the murderer still lurked waiting for the perfect time to strike. Over the few days Dancingstar had made Fallkit an apprentice. (Ok I'm way too lazy to write another apprentice ceremony) Leopardsnow, her mentor, had taken her to explore the territory a few hours ago.

Fallpaw shot back into camp, her fur bristled in panic and she had a few deep cuts. Frostflower took her into the medical den very quickly.

———

When Dancingstar had asked Fallpaw what had happened she had explained that a light-pelted cat had attacked her but Leopardsnow had been killed protecting her. Fallpaw appeared to be very frightened of the two she-cats, presumably because of their pelt colour.

"What's wrong?"

"This is where it goes blurry." He replied. "I was attacked, like Fallpaw described, she had a light pelt"

"She?" Frostflower asked, tilting her head in confusion.

Sunsetshadow nodded "she had a soft voice. She said something about my parents. I-I can't remember what s-she said or who she was" He started to tear up. "After she pushed me under the water I don't remember anything other than accepting that I was going to star clan ... but I didn't"

Murder 1

Heathershade walked down towards the lake in the middle of the valley. She liked to go down there to avoid her other clan mates when she wanted to be alone. She watched as the lake bubbled menacingly, the lake was polluted and murky so Cavernstar had warned against going into and drinking the water. She sat by the edge of the lake and watched the ripples in the lake as it started to rain.

After a while Heathershade went to stand up and stretch but before she could she head an angry scowl behind her. She quickly looked behind her but before she was able to see who it was she felt a sharp pain in her neck and the cold waters of the lake engulf her. She went to call for help but felt the air from her lungs disappear as she sank, too weak and shocked to fight back.

Cavernstar sat on the highrock looking over her clan. This death was troubling her. After Heathershade had disappeared for a while day she had sent out a patrol of 3 warriors to find her. She had sent Burnblaze, Oasisrain and Midnightflame to investigate and when they had returned they had found Heathershade's body. It was drenched with a bite wound on her neck. She sighed and stood up "as you have heard Heathershade has been killed. I am unsure of what happened but Silentstream has confirmed that it is a wound that has been inflicted by another cat" she looked around as she heard shocked gasps "we are unsure of who did it. Whether it was a rouge or a ... clan cat" she continued. Angry howl erupted as she said clan cat.

Cavernstar looked at Midnightflame who escorted Appledrop up to high rock before looking out of the clan. "We should vote on this before we decide what will happen" she said quietly.

Hollowkit looked terrified "my dad wouldn't do that! He's innocent" He squeaked before Silverpelt ushered Leafkit and Hollowkit back to the nursery.

Burnblaze narrowed his eyes "Appledrop is a skilled warrior he would be capable of the wound that killed Heathershade. I say guilty"he announced

Murder 2

Galeclaw padded along the narrow paths down towards the lake, she wanted to explore the area where Heathershade had been killed, hoping to find a clue as to who had killed her. She glanced down at the sleep slope to the side of her and quickly increased her pace.

As she neared the narrowest path she heard a noise from behind. She froze in fear before looking behind her. But again, like Heathershade she wasn't quick enough to see who the cat was. The cat pushed Galeclaw off of the ledge, sending her tumbling down the steep cliff.

Cavernstar sat by Galeclaw's body, hanging her head in grief due to loosing her last child. Midnightflame addressed the clan to tell them what happened. Anxious murmurs ripped across the crowd if gathered cats

"Swiftflame killed them" a voice from the crowd called out among the ripple of whispers. The gathered cats looked around for who had said that. Midnightflame watch thoughtfully.

Swiftflame sat where he was calmly "I wouldn't kill anyone. I'm a loyal warrior"

Leafkit looked concerned "but Swiftflame is nice to me and sometimes plays moss ball with me" she whimpered "hes got to be innocent"

Cavebounce narrowed his eyes "Swiftflame is smart and a good fighter. I think guilty. He could have done it" he snapped before joining Cavernstar beside his kit

Murder 2: results

Midnightflame looked at Swiftflame with a frown. "You have been voted guilty." He stated, unsure of what to do "is there anything you would like to say?" He asked

Swiftflame smirked. "You've caught me." He admitted. Angry yowls came from away from the gathered cats as Cavebounce and Cavernstar left at Swiftflame in rage. "How could you kill my last kit" Cavernstar growled "get out of my clan or I'll kill you" she added, lashing her tail.
Swiftflame kicked Cavernstar and Cavebounce off and walked out of camp smirking , never to return.

Murder 1

Canarysong padded out of the camp. He was on his way to meet his mate in secret. He knew he wasn't allowed to have a mate so him and Scamperstep kept it a secret. He padded through the long grass and down the hill to meet buy the lake.

When he got there he searched around for Scamperstep, he knew she was there already as her scent trail was there. As he searched up for her he came across her black and white body which was cover in wounds and blood. Canarysong let out a distraught wail and rushed over to her. The body was wet to get rid of a scent trail but one thing was clear another cat had killed her.

Maplestar padded back and forth whilst the clan gathered. Once they had gathered she explained that Canarysong song had found Scamperstep dead, missing out the bit that it was planned that they met there, by the lake and confirmed that a cat had killed her. Shocked gasps echoed around the camp.

Murder 1: voting

An angry howl called out "I think Lionclaw did it" they called out. Maplestar froze in confusion and fear; First her sister had been murdered and now a cat was accusing one of the clan members of killing her. She looked over at Ivorypoppy, her deputy, for a little back up.

Redkit, who was to only one of his litter who was actually paying attention, looked horrified "my dad isn't a murder" he whimpered, he had looked up to his father his whole life "he wouldn't kill anyone" he added.

Sunsetblaze wrapped her tail around her kits protectively "he's an experienced warrior. I've seen him fight. He's very capable of killing a cat like that" she snarled.

Murder 1: results

Maplestar dipped her head apologetically to Lionclaw "I am sorry that some of the clan doubted you" she replied. She looked over at Lionclaw's kits and smiled "I have been waiting for the right moment for this and it appears to be now" she announced "Wrenkit, Robinkit, Redkit ans Stonekit come over here" she called.

Wrenkit and Robinkit bounced over excitedly and Redkit lead Robinkit over.

Maplestar went over to Wrenkit. "Wrenkit from this day until you are a warrior you will be know as Wrenpaw. Goldernshadow will be your mentor and will guide you by sharing his skills with you" she told her before walking to Robinkit. Wrenpaw excitedly looked at Goldernshadow

"Robinkit from this day until you are a warrior you will be know as Robinpaw. Rockhide will be your mentor and will guide you with your training" Robinpaw nodded and looked over at Rockhide nervously. Maplestar continued on to Redkit.

"Redkit from this day until you are a warrior you will be know as Redpaw. Appledawn will be your mentor and will share his skills and loyalty with you" Redkit smiled eagerly at Maplestar and then looked over at his father, hoping he will approve. Maplestar finally walked over to Stonekit.

"Stonekit from this day until you are a warrior you will be know as Stonepaw. Leafspot will be your mentor and help and guide you, even if it's hard, and will pass her skills onto you" she told him softly. Stonekit looked unsure before nodding.

Mossleaf and Lionclaw watched their kits proudly.

Murder 2

Wrenpaw, Robinpaw, Redpaw and Stonepaw gathered at the camp entrance with their mentors except for Rockhide, Robinpaw's mentor. Robinpaw looked at her siblings and their mentors before laying her ears back in embarrassment and upset. She was upset that Maplestar had assigned a mentor that didn't even want to turn up. Goldenshadow looked over at Robinpaw and sighed "I'm sure he'll be here any minute" he said softly. Goldenshadow kept telling himself, trying to reassure himself, even though he hadn't seen Rockhide at all this morning. After what felt like hours of waiting, which had just in fact been half an hour, Appledawn got up "let's just go without him. He's probably not going to turn up" he stated. He saw his sister Goldenshade (this is going to be confusing 😂) "hey! Goldenshade! Can you come with us and be Robinpaw's mentor for the day? Rockhide hasn't shown up" he asked. Goldenshade nodded her head happily and padded over to Robinpaw happily.

The group padded towards the lake the mentors were pointing out all the good spots for hunting and where their territory borders were. As they got closer to the lake Stonepaw tripped over, feeling fur on his leg that had made him trip up he very quickly got up and backed off, excepting to be scolded "sorry" he whimpered. The group looked over curiously before Robinpaw let out a shriek in fear. Stonepaw as tripped over Rockhide's body, which like Scanperstep's body, was shredded with scratched. Robinpaw stood there staring at her former mentor, her ears laid back and instantly regretting thinking he wasn't bothered enough to turn up. Stonepaw was freaking out as he couldn't see or understand what was happening. Redpaw and Wrenpaw looked traumatised and the mentors looked panicked. Leafspot grabbed Stonepaw by his scruff and pulled him away. Goldenshade ran back to camp to alert everyone. Goldenshadow appears to be having a panic attack as Appledawn investigated the body for an scent but like Scamperstep the body was wet, removing any scent from it.

Maplestar looked over at the new apprentices and sighed. They huddled together looking traumatised. She looked over the rest of her clan who were all looking uneasy. She explained what had happened to the gathered cats.

"Mossleaf did it" the mysterious cat yowled from the gathered cats. The gathered cats shifted their gaze to the former queen.

Mossleaf let out an angry hiss which was very unusual to see. She flicked her tail "you accuse my mate and now you accuse me!" She snapped "this is stupid. I have a family I wouldn't throw them away to kill my clan mates!" She snarled.

Robinpaw lashed her tail "my mum isn't a murder! Innocent!" She yowled

Sunsetblaze wrapped her tail around her kits "I'm not sure that it is Mossleaf but to be on the safe side guilty" she announced

Murder 2: results

Maplestar listened to the close results before turning to Mossleaf. "You have been voted innocent" she informed her "I am sorry that some of the clan are quick to judge you and your mate" she added apologetically.

Mossleaf nodded and cuddled up to her mate, flicking her tail in annoyance with some of her clan mates.

Maplestar then looked over at Robinpaw and bowed her head respectfully "I am sorry for the loss of your mentor. Goldenshade will be your new mentor as she helped out when Rockhide wasn't here" she informed her before turning to Leafspot. "We also have some good news. Leafspot and Shadowstone are expecting a litter of kits soon" she said happily before looking over at Stonepaw and then at Ivorypoppy "Ivorypoppy will be taking over Stonepaw's apprenticeship" she added

Murder 3

Mousepaw waited excitedly by the entrance of camp, today was the day she completed her warrior assessment. She was too excited to even think about the murderer.

Hollowclaw, her mentor, explained what was going to happen. She needed to catch three different types of prey and once she had done that she had to beat Hollowclaw in a fight. He also added that he would be watching extra carefully to make no one snuck up on her.

It had been about half an hour and Mousepaw was just about to catch her final prey. She had already coughed a mouse and a blackbird and now she was stalking a vole by the river that lead into the lake. As she was about to pounce a loud yowl scared the vole away. Mousepaw flicked her tail in annoyance but to her surprise Hollowclaw jumped out of a nearby tree. He looked confused and concerned "we should go check that out" he told her. Mousepaw nodded and buried her prey before following after him.

They arrived at the lake shore to find Leafspot drowned in the lake, unlike the other 2 murders this time there were no wounds on her. Hollowclaw looked at his sister's body in anger ans sniffed around for some clue of who had done it but like the others there were no signs of any scent.

Hollowclaw and Mousepaw brought Leafspot's body back to be buried and explained how they found her to Maplestar. Shadowstone saw Leafspot's dead body and left it an upset yowl and ran to her. Cats started to gather around.

Murder 3: voting and results

Maplestar looked around in confusion, why hadn't this mysterious accuser spoken yet. She could tell that a lot of the clan were confused aswell.

After no one had accused any other clan members. Some cats were picked off one by one each night and others fled in fear, till only two cats remained Maplestar and Lilyowl. Lilyowl's mate had run off with Lilyowl's kits a few sun ups ago. Maplestar was in her den mourning for her clan when Lilyowl snuck into her den and pounced at her. "Your so weak without your clan" Lilyowl snarled at her, knowing that she had won. Maplestar hissed and swiped at her "how could you!" she snarled. Lilyowl smirked and pushed her out of the den, making her tumble down onto the floor. Maplestar laid there a little dazed but let out a yowl of pain as she felt Lilyowl's claws run through her belly. Maplestar's vision went black and when she opened them she was in Starclan
